FISHING AND FISHERMEN.

Hawaii's game-fishing possibilities were graphically brought out yesterday at the annual meeting of the Hawaii Tuna Club, and simultaneously the members of the club showed what a potent factor such an organization can make itself in promotion work for the islands.

It is good to see the Hawaii Promotion Committee come forward with the heartiest of approval for the Tuna Club and even better to have the committee pledge the club its financial support. The Tuna Club is largely a pro bono publico organization; there is no private profit connected with it; its prime objects are good-fellowship, sportsmanship, the development of facilities for game-fishing in these waters, and the advertising of Hawaii's unequalled opportunity for this great branch of healthy sport.

Within the past few months it has been conclusively demonstrated that noted game-fishermen from all parts of the world will come here when they are sure that the fish are here and the facilities are here. The Tuna Club has a grand opportunity and the backing it is now receiving will allow it to do much more work than would be possible from its own limited resources.

The decision to award honor buttons to game-fishermen whose prowess deserves recognition is a good decision. The fine sportsmen and fine fellows coming here to fish for the tuna, the ono, the sword-fish and other finny fighters of the Hawaiian waters will appreciate this stamp of recognition upon their feats. And it all helps Hawaii.

SECRETARY GARRISON'S RESIGNATION.

Secretary Garrison's resignation is the first public indication that the differences of opinion upon preparedness are serious in administration circles.

It is also the first public indication that President Wilson prefers the conclusions of congressional committees to those of his secretary of war. This is the plain meaning of the Washington despatches, for the congressional pressure referred to is that by the house and senate military affairs committees and their associates.

Though there are radical differences between the secretary of war and the War College experts, it is impossible to believe these differences are the basic reason for Mr. Garrison's resignation. The indications are that neither the president nor the military committee is willing to stand vigorously for a program which Mr. Garrison feels is the minimum of adequacy. In other words, it is not the issues between Mr. Garrison and the War College, though these are rather deep-seated, but the issues between Mr. Garrison and the administration, which have precipitated the resignation.

The president's speeches on his recent tour showed plainly his opposition to a large standing army. He did not go into figures, but very possibly he opposes an army as large as that which Mr. Garrison feels should be maintained, together with his proposed Continental Army. Chairman Hay of the house committee on military affairs is also a persistent opponent of the plans which the military experts regard as imperative.

The resignation of Secretary Garrison is

THIRD SENTENCE OF YEAR GIVEN FOR ONE CRIME

For the third time Charley Martinson was sentenced to a year in prison, when Judge Monsarrat this morning fixed that as the penalty for an assault on Frederick Dow on the bark British Yeoman, January 22. L. M. Straus, attorney for Martinson, at once appealed the case, and it will now go to the circuit court.

Martinson was charged with entering Dow's cabin on the British Yeoman and striking him with an iron bar, fracturing his skull. He twice withdrew pleas of guilty, after sentence was passed, and reopened the case.

It is understood now that the British Yeoman will remain here for 10 days and possibly longer. Unless Martinson is tried within this period he may go free, as all the principal witnesses, including Dow, will sail on the bark when she goes.

The National Bank of Cuba shipped $500,000 in gold and $135,000 in silver, in the new currency to Cuba.

"MATTER OF QUARRY SMELLS TO HEAVEN" COMMENTS LARSEN

Supervisor Larsen is not saying a word about his charges of inefficiency in the conduct of the municipal quarry made a couple of weeks ago. "That matter smells to Heaven," he said this morning. "It doesn't need any more stirring by me; I've done my part. Let the mayor and the chairman of the road committee get busy. It's up to them."

HENRY W. KINNEY OFF TO ORIENT TO ENJOY TRIP OF TWO MONTHS

"This is the first real vacation I have had for eight years, and I'm going to take a good, long rest," declared Henry W. Kinney, superintendent of public instruction, as he busily packed a suit case in his office in the judiciary building today. Mr. Kinney was to leave for the Orient in the steamer Shinyo Maru this afternoon on a two-months' trip to Japan. While in Japan he will visit Yokohama, Tokyo, Nikko, Osaka, Kobe and Kioto, and incidentally investigate the school system of the empire. He will return to Honolulu on April 3 in the same steamer.

thoroughly unfortunate. While many well-informed army officers differ with his scheme of a Continental Army, they agree with the majority of his conclusions and are particularly strong in praise of his stanch stand on the general subject of preparedness. He is one of the two or three really strong men of the Wilson cabinet. The political effect of his resignation is likely to be serious; and if it is true that he quits because he sees entirely inadequate military legislation forthcoming, then the situation is worse than politically ominous.

AN ANGELL.

(From the Los Angeles Express.)

Norman Angell, creator of the great illusion, and English author and journalist, himself labors in the upbuilding of an even greater illusion in preaching the certainty of war between Japan and the United States. Unlike other commentators on our domestic affairs and foreign relations, Norman Angell has first-hand knowledge of the subjects with which he deals when he treats of conditions and prospects in America. As rancher and prospector and newspaper worker in our Western country, Angell learned his United States thoroughly. When he speaks in criticism his strictures are those of a friendly critic, and when he prophesies our future it is not in enmity.

Speaking before the Women's Peace party in New York quite recently, Angell declared his belief that this country would be led into war with Japan "over questions of the rights of Japanese laborers in Hawaii or the Philippines, or the differential treatment of her citizens in the United States, or the open door in China."

It should be our business, to deal with Japanese laborers in Hawaii or the Philippines or on the mainland in a spirit of absolute justice. The door in China, whether it be closed or open, could never justify a war. As to the differential treatment of Japanese in the United States, Professor Gulick has suggested a method of dealing with the immigration question that should at once satisfy Japan's sense of national honor and racial pride and at the same time protect this coast from submergence under a tide of unrestricted immigration.

We indulge the hope that our Angell has merely passed an unangelic night, and that now, no longer seeing things, he views our future with a less fearsome eye.

Germany serves notice that armed merchantmen will hereafter be considered as warships. In other words, they will be sunk with no more notice than was given the Hogue, the Cressy and the Lusitania.

Leap Year is certainly dangerous. We notice that an Ohio spinster has shot a man for making her wait 22 years and then jilting her.

Capt. von Papen is about as unlucky with his correspondence as any man we can think of.

You notice, do you not, how quickly Carranza has punished Villa? So do we not.

It took only one note from Secretary Garrison to close that issue.

Sec. Lansing wants more light on the Pe-

BAND MUSIC FOR COLLEGE HILLS AND MANOA FOLK

Mayor Lane has directed the Hawaiian band to give a concert in Manoa park on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, in honor of the residents of College Hills and Manoa Valley generally, and expresses the hope that there will be a large attendance, as it is the first band concert to be given in the pretty park, which marks the entrance to the Valley of Sunshine and Tears.

NAVY ASKING FOR BIDS ON PILES FOR STATION

Notification came from the navy department today that the bureau of supplies and accounts at Washington will receive proposals for delivering piles at Pearl Harbor until 10 a. m. March 14. Information may be obtained locally from the supply officer, Naval Station, Pearl Harbor.

KEMP SWORN IN AS LAWYER BUT NOT AS OFFICER

Samuel B. Kemp, former Texas judge and recent arrival in Honolulu, was sworn in and admitted to practice law in the local federal court today. Judge Kemp was introduced to the court by District Attorney Horace W. Vaughan.

While he has heard nothing official from Washington, Mr. Vaughan still adheres to his belief that Judge Kemp will be appointed assistant district attorney.

"One reason for this belief is that Judge Kemp is personally acquainted with the attorney-general," Mr. Vaughan explains. "I cannot conceive of a man coming away out here from Texas to seek a new field in the legal profession."

Judge C. F. Clements says he has heard nothing from Washington which might lead him to believe that Mr. Kemp will be appointed.

WILL PILE LEIS ON MR. AND MRS. WOOD

H. P. Wood, former secretary of the Hawaii Promotion Committee, together with Mrs. Wood, will be given a hearty send-off this afternoon at 5 o'clock when they leave for Japan on the Shinyo Maru. Members of the Promotion Committee have arranged to be at the steamer in a body and to pile leis upon them. A luncheon which was to have been given by the Promotion Committee at the Commercial Club this noon was called off this morning owing to the fact that Mr. Wood found himself too busy to participate in it.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

SUPERVISOR WILLIAM LARSEN: Notice how good I've been lately. Hardly a word from me at the meetings. I'm trying it for a while but I won't make any promises as to how long it is going to last.

FLOYD H. EMMANS: The campaign to secure subscribers for "Association Men," the organ of the Y. M. C. A., is proving a big success in Honolulu. The magazine seems to be nearly as popular as the Y cafeteria.

GEORGE W. PATY: Judging from the number of signatures on petitions which the Anti-Saloon League has forwarded to Washington, there is a goodly number of people here who are anxious to see Hawaii go "dry."

HENRY W. KINNEY: It being my first vacation in many months, I am looking forward with keen pleasure to my trip to Japan. However, I suppose as soon as I get there I'll become homesick for Hawaii and want to get back as quickly as possible.

W. H. HUTTON: One of the Carnival features that is going to be of much greater interest to the public than is generally recognized is the Boy Scouts Rally, which will be held February 26 in the palace grounds at 10 o'clock in the morning. Since last year the Scouts here have made great progress and they will surprise those who turn out to see them do their stunts.

JAMES A. WILDER: There seems to be an impression among my friends that this mule I have for the Boy Scouts to tame and pack is a docile animal and that I am merely doing publicity stuff when I say it is named Maud, and is what is sometimes termed a "bad actor." To prove the mule is the worst on the islands, I defy any of my critics to saddle, pack or ride the mule.

GEORGE CASPER: These recent rains and the excessive humidity have played havoc with the best violins in town. The glued parts have come loose and the repair men have reaped a harvest gluing them together again. The dampness is also trying on strings, and makes them break easily. I must have spent $25 on strings since January 1. Even the best go to pieces in a little while with this humidity.

A. P. TAYLOR: Pineapple Day was surely a big boost for Hawaii. Thousands of people competed for the many prizes in cities throughout the United States, and many thousands of people saw the window displays. One can hardly estimate the great amount of publicity that it has given Hawaii. Every prize winner will naturally be a booster. The work of the Promotion Committee was not in vain, and the Hawaiian Pineapple Packers' Association has accomplished something that will be worth while to the islands.

LETTERS

DAILY LAW VIOLATION.

Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin.
Sir: A day or so ago I was suddenly reminded that it might be instructive as well as entertaining to "sit up and take notice" of things around me, or in other words, to see what I could see, and in the space of three hours (9 to 12 a. m.), I observed the following:

In three different places in the city I came across signs painted on the sidewalk, advertising the goods of the store before which they were. I met three swill wagons on the public streets after 10:30 a. m. Two automobiles standing at the curb with their engines running and no one in attendance. Two wagons and one auto at rest with their left sides against the curb. An Oriental riding a bicycle with a bundle on the handlebars so large that he could not see over it. Three instances where children under the age of 14 years were driving teams or automobiles, two of whom were unaccompanied by an older person.

All of the above are rank infractions of the laws applicable thereto. We may not have a police department adequate to the size of the city, but that condition does not give license to close the public eye to law breaking.

In the opinion of the writer there are altogether too many "under age" chauffeurs driving autos about the city. It might also be interesting to know just what per cent of auto chauffeurs have licenses to drive. A sort of "stand and deliver" inquiry for licenses would, no doubt, either increase the city and county's realization or materially reduce the number of chauffeurs. Why not try it? LICENSE HOLDER.

Personal Mention

ATTY. J. LIGHTFOOT, who went to Maui last Tuesday on business, will return to Honolulu tomorrow.

JOAQUIN GARCIA, assistant cashier in the First National Bank at Wailuku, Maui, is to be appointed Spanish vice-consul for the Valley Island.

GEORGE S. RAYMOND, territorial school inspector, who had been inspecting the schools on Hawaii during the last month and a half, will return to Honolulu on February 26.

MISS DAISY SMITH, clerk in the office of the superintendent of public instruction, is recovering rapidly from a recent operation for appendicitis. She expects to be back at her desk within a few days.

DESERTER FROM 2ND INFANTRY IS SOUGHT; WAS LAST SEEN HERE

Frank Dareton, a private in Company A, 2nd Infantry, has been posted as a deserter, by order of Col. W. H. Chatfield, commander of the regiment. Dareton enlisted in Chicago, January 17, 1914, and deserted January 31, 1915. His home is in Youngstown, Ohio; age, 24 years; occupation, laborer; eyes, brown; hair, dark brown; weight, 130 pounds; height, 5 feet 4 inches. He was last seen in Honolulu, wearing a light gray civilian suit and a soft hat.

PADDEN ASSAULT CASE GOES TO CIRCUIT COURT

From the police court today the case of H. M. Padden, charged with misconduct with a girl under 15 years of age, was sent to the circuit court for trial. Lizzie Tellis, the girl in the case, will appear as a witness against Padden.

Padden is from the mainland and is said to have served an enlistment in the army. His wife sat beside him today in the court room.

MAN WHO SAVED "BOB" EVANS' LIFE DIES IN OREGON

MARSHFIELD, Ore.—Friends are mourning the death here of Capt. Alfred Matson, who is said to have saved the life of the late Admiral Robley D. Evans when a midshipman in the battle of Port Fisher in the Civil war. He was 75 years old. Matson was a sailor in the landing party which assaulted Fort Fisher, when Midshipman Evans was shot through one leg and fell beneath the guns of the fort. He dashed in, lifted the wounded midshipman and carried him to safety.

BLACK BASS IN PEARL HARBOR IS FISHER'S PLAN

Establishment of Hatcheries for Game Sea Fish Also Likely to Be Urged

Plans to stock Pearl Harbor with black bass and thus create a great land-locked fishing resort are under consideration by a number of public officials. The plan, occasioned by the possible depletion of the edible fish supply in the open sea due to the attacks of larger voracious fish, is said to include the establishment of government fish hatcheries, and is expected to be put before the proper federal authorities very soon.

Territorial Auditor J. H. Fisher is rumored to be one of the men interested. He declared he had nothing to say on the matter.

"I don't care to make my plans public until I am sure they will be fulfilled," he said.

BRUSHED FROM CAR BY BIG DELIVERY WAGON

While standing on the running board of a street car, Charley Barboza was slightly injured yesterday afternoon when the car started to pass a wagon of Henry May & Company, which had been left standing so that it barely gave room for the car to go by. The accident occurred near the Palama fire station, on King street.

An automobile driven by a woman almost ran over Barboza while he was lying on the ground, but was stopped by Theodore Decker, who drove his automobile in front of the woman's car. Decker took Barboza to the Japanese hospital. His injuries were found to be slight and late in the afternoon he was taken home.

PVT. LEVEY STOWS AWAY ON TRANSPORT; "PEEVED" AT PANAMA

When an enlisted man has such a "peeve" on the country where he is stationed that he will desert and stow away on an army transport to leave it, he must be thoroughly disgusted. Such is the case of Pvt. John Levey, an enlisted man from one of the Canal Zone regiments, who arrived on the U. S. army transport Logan, from Balboa, today. He has the distinction of being the only stowaway on board. Because he is a soldier, Levey will be turned over to the military authorities here instead of to the immigration station. The war department has been advised of the peculiar situation, and instructions are expected to reach here by radio or cable some time today.
